Everyone Is Getting Marriedâ€but Me - SingleRoots Romantic feelings do get in the way, but, hey, all for the greater glory of God, right? If I have to do it, I know I won't be bitter over it. Yet at the same token of time, a lot of the friends I grew up with already are getting married or have kids. I'm like the only worker at my job that hasn't had kids or a marriage (be it intact or divorce).

Everyone Is Getting Married Besides You | Thought Catalog Sometimes we take a look around ourselves, and yes, all of our friends are getting married. All of our friends are happy in stable, loving relationships, and we're at the end of the single person spectrum, eating a microwaveable pizza for dinner because why the hell not. Accepting the Single Status When Everyone Else is a Couple Nearly everyone in both my social and professional circles is either married or in a serious relationship. It's no exaggeration that I'm often the only "single" person at the table. My friends and siblings' concerns now include things like wedding planning, getting to know their in-laws, and saving to buy a house.
